Environmental governance and the Rio+20 outcome

• The assessment is ‘globally positive’
• Majority of outcomes are beyond just a narrow environmental perspective, with a strong social dimension in place
• Reinforcement of existing work streams linking environment and development (Green economy, SCP, RE, SE4ALL)
• Creation of new work streams (strengthening UNEP, Beyond GDP, CSR)
• SDG’s provide a unique chance for better integration of environment into development

In this regard, we invite the General Assembly, at its sixty-seventh session, to adopt a resolution strengthening and upgrading UNEP in the following manner: .. ..........

Environmental Sustainability in the SDGs and Post-2015

• Poverty eradication cannot be achieved if environmental thresholds are crossed and ecosystems services and natural capital are lost.

• Open Working Group on SDGs will submit a proposal for SDGs to the 68th session of the General Assembly

• In parallel various strands of work concerned with the UN development agenda beyond 2015, including work of the UN Development group at national, regional and global thematic consultations, including environmental sustainability.

• One of the greatest challenges in developing SDGs will be to incorporate all the dimensions of sustainable development in a balanced way – environmental, social, and economic. Each of these dimensions requires careful thinking and analysis about the role they will play in SDGs.
Democracy, good governance and the rule of law are essential for sustainable development, inclusive economic growth, social development, environmental protection and the eradication of poverty and hunger.
